Find ways to help the poor.

The best way to help others improve their lives is by helping them find ways to solve their own problems. Outreach International has successfully used this methodology with Participatory Human Development (PHD) programs. This strategy can be used in your community to help the poor or underprivileged lead more abundant lives.

"And the Lord called his people, Zion, because they were of one heart and one mind, and dwelt in righteousness; and there were no poor among them." --Genesis 7:23 Inspired Version

transformation and justice projects.

As you live your life in a Christ-centered worshiping, covenanting, and fellowshiping community, you see the world through spiritual eyes--aware of the inequality and injustice experienced by others who may live in your neighborhood. Informed by the prophetic tradition found within our three books of scripture, it is natural for you to seek ways to express the worth of all persons and the sacredness of all creation as you partner with others in neighborhood transformation and justice projects.

Discover ways you and your congregation can have a "Temple vision" that pursues peace, challenges injustice, and facilitates reconciliation and healing of the spirit of all.

"Become a people of the Temple--those who see violence but proclaim peace, who feel conflict yet extend the hand of reconciliation, who encounter broken spirits and find pathways for healing. Fulfill the purposes of the Temple by making its ministries manifest in your hearts." -- Doctrine and Covenants 161:2a, b

Seek peaceful solutions.

With your brothers and sisters in Christ from many different races, nations, and cultures, seek together the good of all. Embraced by Christ's love, follow him, take up the cross, and work to end economic injustice, racism, and violent conflict. The gifts of peace, justice, reconciliation, and healing of the spirit are for people living in all nations. These gifts are human rights given by God, who loves all people. Peaceful solutions include finding ways to live simply so the earth's environment might be passed on and entrusted to our children and grandchildren.

"And blessed are all the peacemakers; for they shall be called the children of God." --Matthew 5:11 Inspired Version
